CROKER'S MAN DELMOUR OR CARROLL?

The Boss Talks on Ice and Says if He Had His Way New York's Poor Would Have Ice for Nothing.

What a time has been made over the ice business! One would think Tammany made the price. Now about it!

If it were in my power or in the power of Tammany Hall to give the poor ice for nothing, I am sure we would do so.

Richard.

In view of the above declaration it will be interesting to remember that Mr. Croker holds 1,000 shares of preferred and 500 shares of common stock in the Ice Trust, his son, Frank A. Croker, twenty-five shares of common stock, and that Mrs. Elizabeth Croker owns 1200 shares of common stock in the same trust.

That was the expression of Richard Croker, in a letter written under date of June 2 and sent to a friend in this city. In the same communication the Tammany Chief tells of his intention to call for home on the Lucania to-morrow.

That after a brief change of mind Mr. Croker had finally decided to start homeward on the date originally fixed upon was placed beyond dispute this morning when the following message was received at the Democratic Club:

Will sail Lucania 16th.

CROKER.

Who is deputy leader of Tammany Hall?

Many Tammany men believe Lawrence Delmour is. Others say John F. Carroll.

Mr. Delmour had charge of affairs all day yesterday. Mr. Carroll was in charge until 1 o'clock to-day. Mr. Delmour came in at 2 o'clock and occupied the chair just vacated and was apparently directing the affairs of the organization. He effectively assured everybody that Mr. Carroll was the leader.

DELMOUR'S STATEMENT.

"Why, bless your soul," said he, "Mr. Carroll has not been deposed, so far as I know. I was here yesterday looking out for things because he asked me. I have not been requested by the Board to take charge. Neither have I received any instructions from Mr. Croker. That is not the way Mr. Croker does business."

"I would not take the position of deputy leader. Mr. Croker has offered me a great many places in Tammany Hall, all of which I have refused. Contrary to report, there is no enmity between Mr. Carroll and myself. I have known his father before him."

CARROLL A "DEAD ONE."

A warm personal friend of the chief said this morning:

"Carroll is no more the leader of Tammany Hall to-day than is Quigg the leader of the Republican party."

"Carroll has been discredited. The edict must be removed, and if Mr. Croker has not already

"If it were in my power or in the power of Tammany Hall to give the poor ice for nothing we would do so!"

CROKER HOLDINGS OF ICE STOCK.

This is the statement of the holdings of the Croker family of Ice Trust stock:

CROKER, RICHARD—500 shares common, acquired June 1, 1899. 500 shares preferred, acquired June 1, 1899. 300 shares preferred, acquired Sept. 13, 1899.

CROKER, ELIZABETH—1,500 shares common, acquired Sept. 26, 1899.

CROKER, F. A.—25 shares common, acquired Nov. 28, 1899.

done it by cable, I know, from my personal acquaintance with him, that he will be quick to act when he returns and learns the actual condition of affairs."

IS CARROLL BLUFFING?

John F. Carroll arrived at Tammany Hall at 11.30 this morning, at which time "Larry" Delmour, who has succeeded him as deputy chief, had not appeared.

Few of the leaders gathered there gave him greeting. It was considered that his appearance was largely in the nature of a "bluff."

Mr. Carroll was nervous and there were dark circles under his eyes, as though he had spent a bad night. His usually pink face was pallid.

He walked to his desk, opened it and took out several letters and glanced over them. He was thus engaged when an Evening World reporter asked:

"Mr. Carroll, is it true that you have been deposed from the position of deputy leader of Tammany Hall?"

Mr. Carroll might have been a deaf mute for all the response the question elicited. He didn't even raise his head. After a time the question was repeated, with better success.

"I have nothing to say," was the reply.

"Is Mr. Delmour to be in charge here to-day?"

"Mr. Carroll's lips tightened, but his voice was unsteady as he repeated: 'I have nothing to say.'"

"Have you heard from Mr. Croker?"

This time Mr. Carroll's pale face flushed more than its customary pink.

BLISS WILL NOT RUN.

Flatly Refuses to Be President McKinley's Running Mate.

(From the Evening Post.)

Cornelius N. Bliss was asked to-day to consider the apparently strong trend toward his nomination for the Vice-Presidency by the Republican Convention at Philadelphia.

He said: "I have friends who desire me to permit my name to be presented. Four months ago, and again two months ago, they asked me to become a candidate. On both occasions I declined. They fully understand that I am not a candidate, and my name will not be presented at Philadelphia."

"Senator Hanna has announced that I am not a candidate—and he knows. For the stories which have been going the rounds of the press, connecting my name with the nomination, I am responsible. For instance, it was printed recently that I had just been in conference on the subject with Senator Platt and Senator Allison. I have not seen Senator Platt for a month, nor Senator Allison for a longer period."

"Your resignation from the Cabinet would seem to indicate that you are no enamored of public office," was remarked.

"The Secretaryship of the Interior was a very responsible and honorable post," replied Mr. Bliss, "and I thoroughly enjoyed my 'social residence' in Washington. My resignation was due to considerations of business, health and family."

"It has been feared that the same considerations might oppose your acceptance of the Vice-Presidency."

"The same considerations still hold. To repeat, I am not a candidate; my friends know it; and my name will not go before the convention. I myself shall go as a delegate, and shall afterwards exert myself to elect President McKinley and whoever may be the Vice-Presidential nominee."

WASHINGTON, June 15. — United States troops will be sent from the Philippines to China. Gen. MacArthur has already been requested to furnish information regarding the number of men he can spare.

This sudden change of mind on the part of the Administration is due, first, to the fact that Admiral Remy cannot spare any more marines; second, to the tremendous pressure brought to bear by the missionaries; third, and chiefly, because the Chinese crisis is more acute.

A howling mob has possession of Tien-Tsin under the guns of the gunboats; our Consul at Chinkiang is in peril, and Minister Conger has not been heard from in sixty hours.

The War Department inquiries show that there are now in or near Manila the Fourteenth and Twentieth infantry and a battery each of the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth artillery, about 3,000 men. These may be drawn upon and their places filled by some of the 57,000 other troops distributed throughout the Island of Luzon.

CABINET ALARMED BY REPORTS FROM CHINA.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The Cabinet devoted its whole session to-day to the Chinese crisis, which reports showed is more acute. After the session it was learned that the situation is considered alarming.

Secretary Long stated that there were only 80 marines available for reinforcements to Admiral Kempf, and these are needed in the Philippines. In fact, it is intimated that the Navy Department can do nothing more in the way of sending aid to China.

It is realized that the small force now engaged is entirely disproportionate when compared with the foreign contingents to the interests and duty of the United States. The newspaper report that the Chinese Imperial troops are opposing the progress of the relief column has given great concern and without doubt has had as much to do with bringing about the determination to increase the United States contingent as have the direct appeals of the friends of the missionaries in the United States.

Rescue must be had to the army. Already Admiral Remy has indicated that he cannot spare more marines and is looking to the Navy Department for another battalion to replace the men he has been obliged to withdraw from the naval station at Cavite to assist

There is genuine need for all the available marines at Cavite, and it is said here that the naval vessels in the Philippines are fully and profitably engaged in scouting through the archipelago and preventing the landing of filibustering expeditions with supplies.

Therefore it is seriously considering the despatch of troops to Tien-Tsin, and inquiries are being made, probably directed to Gen. MacArthur, as to the number of troops that can be spared for this emergency and the possibility of securing transportation for them.

That the crisis is more acute is evidenced by a cablegram received by the State Department to-day from the United States Consul at Tien-Tsin, Mr. Ragsdale. He says that the mob is in control of the native city of Tien-Tsin and the authorities do not seem to be able to do anything with them. He adds that the foreigners in Tien-Tsin are still safe.

The surprising feature of this telegram is the announcement that the Russians are operating freely under the very guns of the men-of-war, for it is understood
